

I am not in favor of "BPL" at this time. there have been different countries testing this type of service & has shown interferences in HF frequency's & etc. I believe FCC should study this more & leave this type of communications to the communication co. services, where the facilities are for such! Not just some open wire lines! Thankyou!